

CRUCIFIX IN BOY'S HAND, HIS SLAYERS KNEEL IN PRAYER

Thirteen-Year-Old Who Fired
Fatal Shot Tells How It Happened.

ACCIDENTAL, HE SAYS.

Moving Pictures and Dime
Novels to Blame Is Coroner's Opinion.

Thirteen-year-old Carmine Prombino, a small, dark-skinned, bright-eyed chap in knickers, was committed to the custody of the Children's Society today charged by Coroner Holtzhauser with plotting the deliberate murder of eleven-year-old Johnny Malle, whose body was found in a sack in the cellar of No. 19 Cherry street yesterday.

Andrew Leone and Antonio Laico, both thirteen and both living at No. 24 Cherry street, and Frank Laico, four years old, no kin to Antonio, of No. 1 Batavia street, were also committed to the Children's Society by the Coroner, who believes they assisted in the amazing crime for the purpose of plundering their little victim of $7.50 he had stolen from his mother and the B-sabre revolver with which the crime was committed. The boy was shot through the heart by Carmine Prombino in the Prombino apartment at No. 19 Cherry street.

In committing the boys and fixing June 7 as the day for the inquest Coroner Holtzhauser blames moving picture shows and dime novels for inspiring the crime, and he also charges that eight-year-old Bartholomew Inslemie, a barber, of No. 18 Monroe street, who sold the revolver to the Malle boy, is as guilty of the crime as any of the boys. The young barber was arrested and committed to the Tombs on the charge of selling a deadly weapon to a minor.

PRAYED BESIDE THE SLAIN BOY
AFTER THE KILLING.

Prombino, the little slayer, was taken to the office of the Coroner from the Children's Society rooms with his boy accomplices this morning. As he told his story he chewed gum and displayed not the slightest emotion. There was a dime novel stuck in the back pocket of his knickerbockers and an empty tobacco bag tied to his suspenders.

He is a pupil of the public school at Oak and Allen streets and speaks fluent English. This is the little chap's story that he repeated twice without a break or slip:

"My father was killed in Youngstown, O., some time ago, and my mother is out there now looking after a damage suit against the railroad that killed the old man. I've been living with my brother, Antonio and sister, Rosana, in our flat at No. 19 Cherry street. My heart won't let me tell a lie about this thing. I shot Johnny Malle, but I didn't mean to do it.

"On Monday night Johnny met us boys and told us about the money. Then he invited us to a moving picture show. He bought the tickets. After the show, as my brother and sister were away, I asked him and the other boys, Fatty Leone, Antonio Laico and Frank Laico—they ain't brothers or nothing—to come up to my flat. We stayed up all night long talking about going West, being cowboys and shooting Indians and all that stuff we'd seen in the moving picture shows.

"While we were talking about this Fatty said: 'We've got no gun to go West.' Little Johnny spoke up and said, 'I've got a gun here,' and he pulled it out of his pocket—a .32 calibre revolver, a beauty.

"I said, 'Let me have it—is it loaded?' He said it wasn't loaded and I whirled it around in the air like I'd seen the cowboys do in the moving picture shows. I kept doing stunts with the gun till I got tired and gave it back to Johnny.

"It was pretty near daylight when we laid down to go to sleep. I had to get up early to go down to the basement and open up Tony's fruit store, but the other boys woke up with me and said, 'You can't go, because we're going West,' and your the leader," and he handed the gun to me.

"It wasn't loaded when I had it first and I didn't know Johnny had loaded it before he laid down to go to sleep. I pulled the trigger and he fell over shot through the heart.

PUT CRUCIFIX IN DEAD BOY'S HAND AND KNELT.

"We took towels and washed his face and wiped all the blood off. We bent down over him and listened to his heart, and when it didn't beat we knew he was dead. I'd read about that in books, that if the heart don't beat you're dead.

"We stretched Johnny out and we crossed his hands over his heart, and we put a crucifix in his hands and then we all knelt down around him and prayed.

"Unless the Grand Jury indicts the thirteen-year-old slayer for murder in the first or second degree it will be impossible to proceed against him as a juvenile delinquent, when the case will be disposed of by the Children's Court. This will follow even if an indiction for manslaughter is found.

Under the juvenile delinquent law no child between the ages of seven and sixteen can be prosecuted for a felony not punishable by death or life imprisonment. All accused of a lower grade than murder are held to be juvenile delinquents.
